Our packs are designed to prepare you quickly and efficiently for commencing work soon after you arrive, as well as providing a smooth transition to help you settle in to life in the UK.

The following is a comprehensive list of how we can help you get started on your great adventure.

QUALIFICATIONS

1. ConstructionSkills Health & Safety Test

In order to work on any UK construction site, tradespeople must demonstrate health and safety awareness. This is achieved through passing the ConstructionSkills Health & Safety Test - a 45 minute, computer based test, consisting of 40 multiple choice questions. You will be provided with a Study Book to prepare you for the Test before you arrive. On your arrival in the UK we will schedule a test date convenient for you. The ConstructionSkills Health & Safety Test is held at our Test Centre in the Downunder Tradies offices in West London.

2. Construction Skills Certification Scheme (CSCS) Card

To work in the UK Construction Industry you will need to have proof of competence. A CSCS Card will state your qualifications and show you have passed the ConstructionSkills Health & Safety Test. A CSCS Application will need to be completed and your qualifications submitted (ConstructionSkills Health & Safety Test pass result/Certificate of Apprenticeship and Transcripts) along with employer references, to ConstructionSkills to be assessed. You will then be issued with a CSCS Card (licence) stating your trade.

We will provide you with and assist you in submitting your CSCS Card Application.

PREPARING FOR WORK

1. Registration with Downunder Tradies

A one on one interview is available upon your arrival in the UK to register your details with Downunder Tradies and finalise any requirements to get you on site.

2. Self Employment, Construction Industry Scheme (CIS) and Unique Tax Reference (UTR)

To work in the UK Construction Industry you will need to register as self employed as you will be working as a subcontractor. You will also need to register within the CIS. This allows you to work in the Industry at the standard tax rate of 20%. If you do not register you will be taxed at the higher rate of 30%. Once you have registered within the CIS you will receive a UTR. This number is used to verify you in the Construction Industry.

You must have a NI Number to register within the CIS.

We will assist and advise you on the necessary steps that must be taken to address all of these requirements.
